Easter hunt in Ollie's memory

THE Easter hunt was on for shoppers with big hearts who donated to a charity in memory of a young boy.

Customers were encouraged to dig deep for the Ollie Young Foundation (OYF) and could buy merchandise and take part in fun and games at Sainsbury's.

The King Street Lane store in Winnersh is championing the OYF as its charity of the year and the weekend's events brought in another £1,255.

The OYF funds research into brain tumours in children and supports those affected, following the death of Ollie, five, in 2012.
