

Shoppers boost fund for Ollie

SHOPPERS helped raise almost £7,000 for a foundation set up in memory of a schoolboy.

Sainsbury's Winnersh chose the Ollie Young Foundation (OYF) as its charity of the year from May 2013 to last month.

Customers and staff at the store in King Street Lane collected £6,975 hosting events including an Easter Egg hunt and bag packing weekend.

Sarah Young, Ollie's mum and charity founder, said: "Working with Sainsbury's Winnersh over the last 12 months has made such a difference to our cause.

"We've raised a fantastic amount and we're now looking forward to working with them on future opportunities."

A cheque was handed over to the charity on Friday, June 7, at a special tea party.

The money will help fund research into a rare brain tumour which took the life of Ollie the day before his sixth birthday in February 2012.
